Ivins, Phillips & Barker attorneys have among them hundreds of years of experience handling all aspects of U.S. federal income tax matters, and so there are few areas of tax law with which they are not familiar. This is why a large component of our practice is answering the day-to-day issues that arise for businesses and high net worth individuals, even when such questions do not fall neatly into the categories of tax accounting, corporate, partnership or international tax. Our unique culture ensures that these questions are resolved by the Ivins attorney with the most knowledge and relevant experience.
