

National Practice

From its founding, Ivins, Phillips and Barker has been a national leader in the tax and benefits bar, advising clients throughout the United States and, indeed, throughout the world. Our national reach stems from the fact that clients come to us with their most challenging issues, often at the suggestion of their local or regional tax advisers who recommend us for our depth and breadth of knowledge and experience. Indeed, we are often consulted by those advisers directly for our views on their most vexing client matters.